

GOING DEEPER: QUESTIONS FOR ANALYSIS

- A. Compare the structure of “May Weather” with the structure of “The Red Wheelbarrow.”
- B. If the question raised in Williams’ poem is “What depends on this scene?” What question is created by Gentry’s poem?
- C. Based on the words in the column from Gentry’s poem, what is the “weather” or impression given by the image of this May world?
- D. How does the speaker indicate the scene has been changed by knowing the “you”? Is this positive or negative?
- E. Write this summary of the Cloze Poem on the board: “Because I knew you, the world is wonderful.” Complete this same sentence for Gentry’s poem: “Because I knew you . . .”

GOING DEEPER: QUESTIONS FOR ANALYSIS

- A. Compare the structure of “May Weather” with the structure of “The Red Wheelbarrow.”
- B. If the question raised in Williams’ poem is “What depends on this scene?” What question is created by Gentry’s poem?
- C. Based on the words in the column from Gentry’s poem, what is the “weather” or impression given by the image of this May world?
- D. How does the speaker indicate the scene has been changed by knowing the “you”? Is this positive or negative?
- E. Write this summary of the Cloze Poem on the board: “Because I knew you, the world is wonderful.” Complete this same sentence for Gentry’s poem: “Because I knew you . . .”